ABSTRACT : Venn Diagram is widely known in logic. It is very helpful. Humans is a mixed of somethings. A person could be half-Asian, half-not Asian... This paper could be useful. Venn Diagram usually uses circle. Why not use other shapes? This is self-inflicting non-euclidian analysis. Perhaps this is just a theory already known and its priority be established. Given a subject what is the best shape to be used? For Humans, I theorize it is square.
